Subject: So Many Unknowns

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here

Good morning,

Recent elections at the federal and state level have created many unknowns about the future of the workers' compensation system.

To help reduce those unknowns, WCRI's 33rd Annual Issues & Research Conference (March 2-3, 2017, in Boston, MA) brings together research and experts with diverse perspectives from all across the country to help you get a solid view of what is happening and what is likely to happen next.

Below are a few of the timely sessions on this year's agenda.

- IMPACT OF THE 2016 ELECTION: For a national perspective, WCRI has invited two former federal lawmakers, U.S. Sen. Coburn and U.S. Rep. Waxman, to help us understand the impact the 2016 election will have on health care, labor, and workers' compensation. Both lawmakers have served during numerous presidents and experienced many changes of power in Congress. In short, they have seen it all and will help you see the way forward.

- REVISITING THE GRAND BARGAIN: WCRI has put together a distinguished panel to discuss the current state of the workers' compensation system or "Grand Bargain," specifically whether it is working or needs revisiting and what the future holds for the 100-year-old system. The distinguished panel includes David Michaels, former Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health (OSHA); Bruce Wood of the American Insurance Association (AIA); Northeastern University's Prof. Emily Spieler; and Dr. David Deitz, former medical director for one of the largest workers' compensation insurers.
- OPIOID TRENDS & ALTERNATIVES: In addition to the latest data on trends in opioid prescribing to injured workers as well as what states are doing to address unnecessary opioid prescribing, you will learn about the latest research on alternatives (marijuana and mindfulness) to opioids in treating pain. You will also hear first-hand accounts from current state government officials on how medical marijuana is being incorporated into the treatment of injured workers in their states as well as what it's like to be managing a program that is very new and federally illegal.

Don't miss this opportunity to elevate your career, expand your knowledge, and network with your peers. As an added incentive, we are offering $50-100 off the price of registration if you register by Wednesday, Feb. 1, 2017. Also available for limited time is a special rate of $246 per night at the conference hotel. Register today to get this great discount and the peace of mind of knowing your seat is reserved.

VALUE OF THE ARTS & IMPORTANCE OF ADVOCACY

It's that time of year when we begin to plan for National Arts Advocacy Day on March 20-21 in Washington, DC. It's always important to tell our stories of the economic, educational, and cultural value of the arts, but with a new president and Congress in place, it's especially critical that we communicate the value of federal funding for arts and culture through the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) – and its direct impact on Ohio's arts and cultural communities.

A Roadmap To Responsible Health Care Reform

Ohio Governor John Kasich recently met with President Donald Trump, key leaders in the Trump Administration, and all 33 Republican Governors to discuss a roadmap to responsible health care reform. In those meetings, Governor Kasich emphasized that reform must preserve recent coverage gains, stabilize insurance markets and reform Medicaid, and save money over time. Only then can reform ensure that Americans, especially those recovering from mental illness or drug addiction, receive the care they need while also protecting taxpayers from unsustainable cost growth.

Jeanne Allen, founder and CEO of the Center for Education Reform organized a Washington D.C. meeting with Secretary of Education, Betsy DeVos, and a workgroup of national charter school leaders.

Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos (Center, Blue suit) and Jeanne Allen (White blouse)

They shared the challenges that all schools face with the imposition of more and more regulations and funding inequity. These leaders will provide great opportunities for the charter school movement and will not be deterred. This first meeting is just the beginning.

Charter leaders were: 7 Degrees of Change Foundation's Paul Norcross (NC); Friendship Public Charter School's Patricia Brantley (DC); State University of New York (SUNY) Charter Schools Institute's Susie Miller Carello; Dawn Evenson and Amber Raskin, iLEAD Schools California; Charter Schools USA's Jonathan Hage; David Hardy, Boy's Latin Charter School of Philadelphia; Rob Kremer, Connections Education; and K12's Stuart Udell. Invited, but delayed by the snow storm were GEO's Kevin Teasley, Constellation Schools' Rick Lukich (OH), Sabnis Schools' Jose Afonso and Indiana's Tony Bennett.

Rick Lukich, co-founder of Cleveland's highly successful Constellation Schools was one of the early leaders of Ohio's charter school movement. He said, "It is exciting that those of us in the trenches fighting for school choice, and providing opportunities for underserved students in our public charter schools have Secretary DeVos to hear our concerns about over regulation and inequitable funding."

Subject: Update on the National Endowment for the Arts

Dear Colleagues,

Unfortunately, speculation that President Donald Trump would propose eliminating the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) has proven to be true. In his official budget request, President Trump has asked the U.S. Congress to zero out the NEA's budget.

Although this news is disappointing, we are nowhere near the end of the road for the NEA or public support of the arts. Consider the following:

National Arts Advocacy Day is especially well-timed this year. On March 20-21—that's this coming Monday and Tuesday—arts supporters from across the nation will descend on Washington to make their voices heard. For more resources and information on how you can be an effective arts advocate, get in touch with our state's arts advocacy organization, Ohio Citizens for the Arts, or get involved at the federal level through Americans for the Arts.

Stay calm, remain strong, and be confident. The NEA has weathered these types of debates before, and together, the arts community will persevere.

Until next time,

Subject: Oppose BCMH cuts in HB 49

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Dear Representative Kirk Schuring,

As a constituent and someone personally impacted by cystic fibrosis (CF), I am writing to express opposition to the Governor's budget proposal (H.B. 49) which would severely limit eligibility and available services for the Bureau for Children with Medical Handicaps (BCMh) program.

The BCMh program serves as a vital safety-net for families with children who have serious medical conditions, including cystic fibrosis, and promotes access to the high quality, specialized care and treatments that people with CF depend upon for optimal health.

Cystic fibrosis is a life-threatening genetic disease that affects 30,000 children and adults in the United States and 1,519 individuals in the state of Ohio. CF causes the body to produce thick, sticky mucus that clogs the lungs and digestive system, which can lead to serious, life-threatening infections. Cystic fibrosis is both serious and progressive; lung damage caused by infection is irreversible and can have a lasting impact on length and quality of life. For this reason, it is vitally important that all people with CF are able to access CF treatments and care by CF experts at accredited care centers.

For people living with CF in Ohio, BCMh acts as supplemental insurance, offering critical supports that include filling coverage gaps and providing cost-sharing assistance that ensure access to essential services for this population. When considering the budget, please ensure that this program remains intact and allows the same number of individuals with cystic fibrosis in the state who would be served or have been served by the BCMh program to access the same level of services, without delay, that they currently receive.

Thank you in advance for considering the needs of people with cystic fibrosis.

Chris,

Thank you for contacting Representative Schuring's office.

I will be sure to pass along your message and views to Representative Schuring regarding the Bureau for Children with Medical Handicaps (BCMh) program cuts in House Bill 49. This is undoubtedly an important issue to many people throughout the state.

Again, thank you for contacting our office.

ARTS ADVOCACY DAY RECAP

As you know, last Thursday, President Donald Trump proposed eliminating the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) in his budget request to Congress. Without delay, advocates for the arts snapped into action to defend the importance of public funding for the arts.

Here at the Ohio Arts Council (OAC), we proudly carried the same message to Washington—public funding for the arts through the National Endowment for the Arts is essential.

KOMEN NORTHEAST OHIO TO INVEST NEARLY $300,000 IN COMMUNITY GRANTS TO DECREASE BREAST HEALTH DISPARITIES

Susan G. Komen Northeast Ohio announced it will invest nearly $300,000 to six local organizations and hospitals for projects supporting the Komen goal of decreasing breast cancer deaths by 50% by the year 2026. Agencies serving Northeast Ohio were chosen for their evidence-based methods and strategies, with a specific focus on filling gaps in the continuum of care for the underinsured, uninsured, and low-income individuals.

These community grants open the door to healthcare for thousands of medically underserved women and men across Komen Northeast Ohio's 22-county service area. Northeast Ohio residents will not only gain access to life-saving breast cancer screening and diagnostic services, they will also receive survivor support services, like assistance with mortgage or utility payments for individuals in active treatment. Gina Chicotel, Director of Mission for Komen Northeast Ohio, says, "We are very excited to partner with our grantees to ensure everyone, regardless of age, race, income or education level, has access to the vital breast health services they need to lead to the best possible outcomes." In 2017, more than 6,000 individuals will be touched by a Komen Northeast Ohio grant. Read more >>

In the U.S., breast cancer is the most common cancer and leading cause of cancer death among Hispanic/Latina women. Breast cancer is less likely to be diagnosed at a local stage in Hispanic/Latina women compared to non-Hispanic/White women. This disparity may be due to

Ohio Public Library Fund

Message :

As an Ohioan for the past sixteen years, I have long been proud of the importance the state puts on its public library system. My son has practically grown up at our local library. Ever since he was small, I've taken him to library programs to meet new people, take classes, and get exposed to new ideas through books and other media. I frequently patronize several libraries in my area, participating in poetry readings, book discussions, and check out material through branches and their on-line digital libraries. I attend writing conferences, meet-the-author events, and other activities that are educational, social, and important for making contacts as I endeavor to become a professionally published author.

So when I tell you that I am very upset to hear the Public Library Fund is being reduced, I am speaking as someone for whom Ohio's library programs are absolutely vital. I am speaking not just as someone who has chosen to move to Ohio and raise my family here, but as someone whose life is significantly richer because of the range of library programs and resources available.

In the current political climate, I realize that necessary cuts must be made to balance the budget. However, cutting the funding to a widely-used and necessary public resource, one that promotes community ties and opens up opportunities for Ohioans through accessible educational opportunities, would be counterproductive.

Now that the NEA is under threat of federal cuts, statewide support is needed for our greatest public resource--the public library system. Please do not further cut funding to one of the most important resources that our great state of Ohio has to offer; I urge you to support Rep. Marlene Anielski's (R-Walton Hills) amendment to protect the PLF at 1.68% so that it is not reduced to 1.66% of the General Revenue Fund.

I have faith that as a duly elected state representative, you take your duty to the public interest seriously and will protect the Public Library Fund. Thank you

Dear Catherine,

Thank you for sharing your views with Representative Schuring.

The House's proposed changes to the Governor's budget is currently being deliberated by member of our caucus. I will be sure to pass your message on to Representative Schuring so that he may keep your views in mind as budget discussions continue.

Again, thank you for contacting our office and please do not hesitate to contact us regarding any other state related issues.

Best,

Abby

AN UPDATE ON THE FEDERAL BUDGET

For the current federal fiscal year, Congress passed and the President signed a budget to increase funding for the National Endowment for the Arts. However, for the next fiscal year, the President's proposal to eliminate the NEA looms. OAC Executive
